Looking Over Into Mexico

Says Administration Is More English Than American in Feeling

Senator Bristow Declares England Has been Enemy Since Time of Revolution.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire.)—Senator Bristow in opposing the repeal of the clause of the Panama Canal act which exempts American shipping from paying tolls for passing through the waterway yesterday declared that England has been an enemy of the United States every hour since the war of the revolution. He declared that the administration in sentiment seems more English than American. He asserted further that the Carnegie Peace Association is spending much money carrying on a campaign to bring about the repeal of the toll exemption clause.

SUPERVISOR COX IS STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY

Suddenly Pitches From Chair While Talking to Deputy County Clerk Eugene Buffandean—Physician Says He Will Recover.

While sitting in the county clerk's office last night talking to Deputy County Clerk Eugene Buffandean, Supervisor Andrew Cox was suddenly stricken with an ailment which up to a late hour last night was diagnosed as either paralysis or apoplexy.

Dr. R. W. Bens, who is in attendance on Supervisor Cox, stated at a late hour that he was unable to make a complete diagnosis at that time, but in his opinion he believes that Mr. Cox was suffering from a mild stroke of apoplexy.

According to Deputy County Clerk Buffandean, Mr. Cox and he were sitting in his office, awaiting the board of supervisors to meet.

"Suddenly," said Mr. Buffandean, "Mr. Cox clutched at his throat and screamed, 'I am choking!' He then tossed over in his chair and slipped to the floor. I caught his head and prevented it from striking. Mayor Fern and Supervisor John Markham came to my assistance, while I rushed out to a drug store for remedies. We next summoned the patrol wagon and had Mr. Cox conveyed to the Queen's Hospital."

Doctor Bens stated last night that with care and quiet he thought Mr. Cox would be able to leave the hospital in about a week.

Owing to the unfortunate occurrence to Supervisor Cox, there was no meeting of the board of supervisors last night.

FISHER ANSWERS FIELD'S CHARGES

Territorial Auditor Tells Pro Commission That He Only Followed the Law.

(By Mutual Wire.)
HILO, May 7.—(Special to The Advertiser.)—The grant commission has been in session here all of today and will continue its session tonight. It has reopened the investigation in regard to a number of important items which it had under consideration heretofore.

A number of witnesses are being examined by the commission, most of these witnesses being asked their views and knowledge of the subject matter contained in the personal report recently made public by H. Gooding Field, who was employed formerly by the commission in an accounting capacity in connection with the investigations carried out.

Territorial Auditor Joseph H. Fisher, who arrived here yesterday morning from Honolulu in response to a request of the commission to appear before it, will make a statement before the commission tonight touching on the criticism of his duties and office brought out in Field's report.

Answering Field's sweeping and caustic criticisms Auditor Fisher today stated to The Advertiser correspondent: "I have performed all the duties, and so has my office, called for on our part under the provisions of Section 55 of the County Act passed by the 1905 session of the legislature. The master of forms and details to be followed by county auditors is prescribed in detail by law and beyond that it was neither within my province or that of my department to act."

"It would have been a physical impossibility for the small clerical force at the disposal of my department to audit in detail the financial books of the four counties or political subdivisions of the Territory."

"Eight years ago, right here in Hilo, in the county auditor's office, I criticized the methods which were then in vogue and I was told by the then auditor, Charles K. Maguire, that it was none of my business; that I had no authority to interfere with the system. This view was taken by the then auditor general of the Territory and since him by his successors whenever the question has arisen in this connection. I gave up all hope of ever being able to do anything for the law was there and succeeding legislatures failed to do anything to change the system or give me the necessary authority to do so."

Tomorrow the officials of the First Bank of Hilo, the Volcano Stables & Transportation Company and other concerns and individuals, whose connection with county financial affairs have called forth criticism in Field's report, will be given a hearing before the commission.

In 1905 the government bought a considerable portion of the Duke of Edinburgh's property around the museum for $1,250,000 and a large area was cleared. The legacy of $250,000 bequeathed by Vincent Stuckey Lean for the enlargement of the museum gave impetus to the present extension. The bequest was intended particularly for the extension of the reading room and library, to which the testator was a frequent visitor.

MRS. W. G. M'ADOO.

WILLIAM G. M'ADOO.

WHITE HOUSE NUPTIALS SIMPLE

Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson Becomes Bride of William Gibbs McAdoo.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire.)—Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, and William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury and member of President Wilson's cabinet, were married in the blue room of the White House here yesterday evening at six o'clock.

The wedding ceremony was a beautiful but simple affair. The arrangements were on a far smaller scale than those which obtained at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Sayre, almost eight months ago in the east room, the blue room being deemed more proper and fitting, because of its smaller size, for yesterday's ceremony.

Besides the President and Mrs. Wilson, Vice-President and Mrs. Thomas E. Marshall, there were present only the members of the President's cabinet and their wives, members of the families of the bride and bridegroom and a limited number of close friends of the couple.

The ceremony took place just within the great round window in the blue room, where Frances Folson stood, many years ago, to become the bride of President Grover Cleveland. The window opens out on the south front lawn, now in its tender fresh dress of green, with a glimpse of the great fountain between the broad avenue of forest trees, and beyond a view of the Washington Monument, clear cut against the Potomac river and the Virginia hills. No more fitting spot for the youthful bride to pledge her troth to the man of her choice could have been found.

Following the wedding announcement cards, which had been previously addressed, were mailed to the official and social world, to relatives and friends outside of Washington and to the foreign diplomats accredited to this country.

Mrs. McAdoo is the fifth daughter of a President to be married in the White House, and the fourteenth bride to pledge her marriage vows there.

WILDER FILES CHARGES AGAINST ATTORNEY M'CARN

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(By Associated Press Cable.)—Judge Arthur A. Wilder today filed charges with the department of justice, in which he alleges that United States District Attorney Jeff McCarne attempted to kill Attorney Claudius McBride in Honolulu last Tuesday.

DENY RUMORS OF DROPPING CHARGES

Attorneys McCarne and McBride Both Insist That Trial of Assault With Deadly Weapon Be Held—United States Official Says He Has no Intention of Resigning.

Rumors which were current yesterday to the effect that United States District Attorney Jeff McCarne and Attorney Claudius H. McBride had forgiven each other; that the criminal charge of assault with a deadly weapon made against McCarne by McBride would be dropped; and that whatever further proceedings which either the federal or territorial grand jury might be called upon to take in the matter would be called off by mutual consent, were denied yesterday by both Mr. McCarne and Mr. McBride.

In a statement made yesterday Mr. McCarne intimated that he would not resign as district attorney, and that if anything along this line should come to a head the initiative would have to be taken from the Washington end by the department of justice.

Referring to the complaint made to The Advertiser on Wednesday evening by Mr. McCarne, that the newspapers had misrepresented him, he stated yesterday, through Attorney A. S. Humphreys, who has represented him in various matters lately, that he was sorry for this statement, and that as far as The Advertiser was concerned he had no complaint to make, since this paper had been very fair to him.

Lawyers on Good Behavior.

Both attorneys were on their best behavior yesterday in the federal court while the Sylvester conspiracy case went on, although war clouds appeared on the horizon at various stages, but no overt act was committed by the litigants, who are faithfully adhering to the truce pact.

Again yesterday, by way of illustrating his point on questions of objection and protest to queries put by the presiding officer, Mr. McBride referred to prize fighting and fist fights. The first reference went by unheeded, but the second did not escape Judge Charles F. Clemons.

"It's just like this, your Honor," said McBride. "Suppose I walked into my room and found two of my friends engaged in a fist fight—"

"That'll do, Mr. McBride," interposed Judge Clemons. McBride subsided immediately.

The public attendance at the trial was very slim yesterday, no doubt the result of the extremely peaceful session of the day before. There were scarcely a dozen people in court, outside of those directly interested in the case.

Complaining Witness on Stand

Florinda Freitas, the girl who claims she was seduced, under a promise of marriage, by Sylvester, was on the stand until a quarter past two o'clock in the afternoon. She was succeeded by Mrs. Maria de Lima, who testified to an admission made to her by Mrs. Sylvester, who was at the time Mrs. Hussmann, a widow. A motion to strike from the record all of the evidence given by this witness was denied by the court after lengthy argument and consultation of authorities by the court and attorneys.

A motion, made by McBride, for a directed verdict of not guilty was denied by the court also. When the court adjourned for the day at four o'clock Mrs. Lima was still under cross-examination. Adjournment was taken until half-past eight o'clock this morning. The court to adjourn at noon today in order that such of the jurors and others connected with the case as care to may attend the Schofield Barracks county fair during the afternoon.

Mr. McCarne made public yesterday the following statement:

Fears Misunderstanding

"I am not in the habit of trying cases in the press, and yet I fear my silence may lead to misunderstanding of the vicious attack of Attorney McBride—a misunderstanding that might prove to be an injustice. And since Mr. McBride states in this morning's Advertiser that he was the aggressor, thus modifying most materially his original statement, I feel that I should take the public into my confidence and yield to the request of the press representatives so far as to say that other items in Mr. McBride's statement should be radically changed by him, for they will be disproved in court."

"I never carry a concealed weapon on my person. I placed one a few weeks ago in a desk drawer in my office because of many threatening letters which I had received. On Tuesday, about three minutes before I was assaulted, I put this weapon into my pocket before stepping out into the hallway to interview some important witnesses, because of a direct and urgent hint that I was to be attacked that very day, and because I knew that several were about to pass through the hall who are bitter personal enemies among them Mr. McBride and some who are now under indictment in the federal court. Motives of malice or revenge."
